MEET THE MODERATORS

RAISE YOUR HANDS & VOICES YOUNG ADULT GROUP

DSDHH is excited to share a new program that is geared for young adults (ages 14-22) that are Deaf and/or Hard of Hearing. They meet online and share topics ranging from navigating school, work, and IEP's to online gaming, movies, and social situations. The moderators facilitate this group and help mentor the young adults through all of these topics and more.

SAVANNAH GONZALEZ

My name is Savannah Gonzalez. I was born hearing. I started losing my hearing in middle school due to an autoimmune disease. But my senior year I was in a car accident that took the rest of my hearing in my right ear and half of my left.

I am so excited for this new class. I hope to see a strong connection and common ground where we can all relate and have a relaxed, fun time together. No stress. No discrimination. Only a good time.

JOJO SAVEA

JoJo is currently a senior at Utah State University where she is studying Marketing. She plans to graduate with a degree in Marketing with minors in Entrepreneurship and ASL in spring. She is also working as a Deaf Mentor for Utah Schools for the Deaf and an Online Specialist for Sorenson Communications.

Life is one giant adventure for JoJo. She loves learning and experiencing new things and meeting new people. Her main hobbies are photography, video production/editing, acting, working out, rugby (especially supporting Manu Samoa Rugby), eating, and traveling—she most recently spent extending time in Australia and Peru. She is very excited to see Raise Your Hands and Voices group grow into a place where people can come together and learn from each other especially during the unprecedented times.

A COUPLE NOTES FROM THE HARD OF HEARING PROGRAM:

- The 2020 Tech Fair has been cancelled. Look for upcoming monthly technology presentations.
- Our Thursday night Conversation Sign class, which started September 10, has been cancelled. We encourage you to join our Wednesday morning (9:30 a.m. – 11 a.m.) Conversation Sign class that goes from September 30 – November 18 (see details in the following pages).

MACLAIN DRAKE

Maclain Drake has established many accessible events with Vibe Music Events, for which he is founder and president. His company creates live music shows, featuring accessible technology he developed for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing communities, ensuring they too can enjoy live music. Maclain's main role in life is empowering the Hard of Hearing and Deaf communities by helping them understand that they too deserve the best in music through accessibility. Maclain hopes to show others how disadvantages can become advantages in life, through his example and this group. He is excited to show young adults that they don't need to feel limited in their future and they too can reach for their dreams.
